

5-9 September 2022, Kavli Institute for Cosmology, Cambridge

Images (clockwise from top) 1 - Koudmani et al, 2019, 2 - NASA, ESA/Hubble, HST Frontier Fields, 3 - NASA, ESA, 4 - Berg et al 2018, 5 - IllustrisTNG collaboration

The Epoch of Galaxy Quenching:

Understanding the Decline in Star Formation from Cosmic Noon to the Present

SOC:

Debora Sijacki (KICC, Co-chair)
Francesco D'Eugenio (KICC, Co-chair)
Asa Bluck (Florida International University)
Michele Cappellari (University of Oxford)
Alice Concas (ESO, Garching)
Emma Curtis-Lake (University of Hertfordshire)
Stephen Eales (Cardiff University)
Sara Ellison (University of Victoria)
Natascha Förster-Schreiber (MPE, Munich)
Julie Hlavacek-Larrondo (Université de Montréal)
Roberto Maiolino (KICC)
Yingjie Peng (KIAA, Beijing)
Annalisa Pillepich (MPIA, Heidelberg)
Joop Schaye (Leiden Observatory)
Jan Scholtz (KICC)

LOC:

Jan Scholtz (Co-chair)
Francesco D'Eugenio (Co-chair)
William Baker
Asa Bluck
Steven Brereton (admin)
Emma Curtis-Lake
Tobias Looser
Gabriel Maheson
Roberto Maiolino
Joanna Piotrowska
Lester Sandles

Themes:

- The Role of Feedback
- The Role of Environment
- Structure & Kinematics
- Chemical Composition
- Star Formation & Gas Content

UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE

www.kicc.cam.ac.uk/events/quenching